He has pledged to "secure our borders" and has described Muslims as "terrorists". In addition, he believes that the "media" is "twisting" his words and has pledged to fight "political correctness". The Republican Party has its first convention in Cleveland, Ohio, next week. The Democratic National Convention will follow in Philadelphia later in the month. The Republican Party's big slate of candidates has been drawn up in a mass selection process that has seen a shadow convention of potential delegates compete for positions on the eventual list. Candidates like Mr Trump may struggle to get the required number of supporters in their home state to make it onto the party's 15-strong "official" list of delegates, but they will no doubt have a well-organised network of supporters who are willing to help them out. Outreach Now the names of those who will get the chance to state their cases in front of party delegates are being publicised. Robo2 controls axon guidance by balancing the Notch signaling pathway. The Notch-ligand interaction plays key roles in the development of the nervous system. In the developing brain, it has been shown that Notch regulates axon guidance by a mechanism that does not involve the transcriptional activation of the Notch target gene Hairy and Enhancer of Split. Here we report that Robo1 and Robo2 are new components of this Notch-dependent control mechanism. Robo1 and Robo2 form a homodimer that binds Notch to control axon guidance in vivo in a Notch-dependent manner. Robo2 activates the Notch target gene Hairy and Enhancer of Split in axons that are following the guidance cue and promotes a Notch-dependent repulsive force in axons that are steering away from a specific guidance cue. This mechanism is required in order for the repellent force to be effective in guiding axons.
